Triumph with Edwin Booth.

Copyrighted, 1904, $2.8.8 McClare Company.
There was one sure who came to us fat the Cleveland Theatre, where Miss Morris's career begand ever a season with the regularity and the cert sinty of the equinoctial larity an molehills, and when he had just cause for anger he burst into paroxyems of rage, even of ferocity, that had they not been half unconscious acting, must have landed him in a mad house, out of consideration for the safety of others: while, worst of all, like too many of his great nation, he was profane almost beyond belief; and profanity, always painfully repellant and shocking, is doubly so when it comes from the lips of one with silvering hair. And yet when Mr. Couldock ceased to use plain, every-day oaths, and brought forth some home-made ones, they were oaths of such intricate construction, such grotesque termination, that they wrung a startled laugh from the most unwilling hip.

In personal appearance he was the beau ideal of the wealthy farmer. He was souarely, largely and the lips of the was souarely.

In personal appearance he was the beau ideal of the wealthy farmer. He was souarely.

In personal appearance he was the beau ideal of the wealthy farmer. He was souarely.

In personal appearance he was the beau ideal of the wealthy farmer. He was souarely.

In personal appearance he was the beau ideal of the wealthy farmer. He was souarely.

In personal appearance he was the beau ideal of the wealthy farmer. He was souarely.

In personal appearance he was the beau ideal of the wealthy farmer. He was souarely.

In personal appearance he was the beau ideal of the wealthy farmer. He was souarely.

In personal appearance he was the beau ideal of the wealthy farmer. He was souarely.

In personal appearance he was the beau ideal of the wealthy farmer. He was souarely.

In personal appearance he was the beau ideal of the wealthy farmer. Some time for help.

A star—dear God could such things hapeen to a star? I was so hurt for him for his broken peak in gm for help.

A star—dear God could such things hapeen to a star? I was so hurt for him for his broken peak of when I could speak I simply told in any salary, and that Iwo fave trying to live on it.

"Oh," he cried, "crummine girl—why don't was the relief of the sala

In personal appearance he was the beau the part of the wealthy farmer. He was squarely, solidly built, of medium height—never fat. His square, deeply lined, even furrowed face, was clean shaven. His head, a little bald on top, had a thin covering of curly gray hair, which he wore a trifle long; while his suit of black cloth—always a size or two too large for him—and his never changing big hat of black felt were excuse enough for any man's little packet—and, oh! he had been so anxious for its safety.

CLARA MORVIS'S REMINISCENCES OF COULDOCK. BANDMANN. BOOTH.

Impetuous Way: of Couldock—Trials Before His Final !uncess—Bandmann's Dismay at His First uneting With Miss Morris—A Triumph With Edwin Booth.

Copyrighted, 1991, by S. S. McClure Company. There was one star who came to us fat the Cleveland Theatre, where Miss Morris's career began ever y season with the regularity and the cert winty of the equinoctial storm, and when they frequently did, we all felt the conjunction to be peculiarly appropriate. He was neither young nor go bd looking, yet no one could truthfully assert that his engagements could truthfully assert that his engagements indeed to me actors.

The old gentleman was always very kind to me and had the oddest pet name for me I ever heard. He used to hall me with, "Where's my crummle girl? Weil, Crummie, how are you?"

In answer to my amazed look he explained and at the way on page to the equinoctial storm, and when the equinoctial storm, and when they frequently did, we all felt the conjunction to be peculiarly appropriate. He was neither young nor go bd looking, yet no one could truthfully assert that his engagements indeed some actors.

The old gentleman was always very kind to me and had the oddest pet name for me I ever heard. He used to hall me with, "Where's my crummle girl? Weil, Crummie, how are you?"

In answer to my amazed look he explained and in the ever cursed me was when he gave me the cue in the wrong place, as he openly admitted—and I went on too soon in consequence in the stage (I was playing his daughter) and he will be stage (I was playing his daughter) and he will be stage (I was playing his daughter) and he will be stage (I was playing his daughter) and he will be stage (I was playing his daughter) and he will be stage (I was

I began backing out of sight as quickly as possible. possible.

It was a very comforting plaster to apply to my wounds—was such a success as that, but it would have been so much pleasanter not to have received the wound in the first-

MELANCHOLY EDWIN BOOTH.

And just one little month after the departure of the impetuous German who should be announced but Mr. Edwin Booth. I felt my eyes growing wider as I read. Some one behind me said:

"Would you like me to damn old Brad's notes for you, Clara? I swear Gertrude is lard lines on you, and that's a fact."

for another play.

He came, oh, how my heart sang! This would be worse for him even than it had been for Mr Bandmann, for the latter knew of his disappointing Queen in the morping and had time to get over the shock, but noor Mr. Booth was to receive his blow only a few minutes before going on the stage.

At last it came, the call

"Mr. Booth would like to see you for a few moments in his room."

contain jackfish are in thinly settled parts of the country, are littled worked and offer excellent breeding grounds, this splendid little fighter would increase rapidly, but for the fact that it spawns in exposed places near the headwaters and one of the most veracious.

"Mr Booth would like to see you for a few moments in his room."

I went I was cold all over. He was so tired he would be so angry. I tapped I went in He was dressed for Hamlet, but he was adding a touch to his brows, hurriedly. He looked up, said:

"Good evening!" rather absently, then stopped, looked again, smiled, and waving his hand slightly said, just in Bandmann's very words: "No, not you not the Player-queen but Gettrude."

he jackfish comes from his winter lair and gets busy. This swimmer, unknown to many Sprihern streams, is never common even in Southern waters best suited to his life and breeding, but in beauty, swiftness and game qualities he atones for his rareness. He is an aristocrat in that he disone habits. There is no record of any man tak-which he would his never changing big hat of his collections and his never changing big hat of his collections are strongly as the his new changing big hat of his collections are strongly as the his new changing big hat of his collections are strongly as the his new changing big hat of his collections are strongly as the his new changing a his collections are strongly as the strongly as the his collections are strongly as the strongly as the his collections are strongly as the strongly as the his collections are strongly as the Lycrystative bent my head to the audience of damp mosses and giant ferns upon the who I felt were applicable to the ground to him whose courtesy had brought me there there will be the weak are plentiful and above them black and targed upon the shoulder and said.

Why Gerfude, you are very young, but ininnows; on the next, with exactly the same weather and the same stage of water, it will take only small brown or green frogs; again it may incline to fish flesh cut to resemble a minnow. Often it will refuse for hours to take the hook though hungry for the thing with which the hook is baited. More than one man so placed that he might see into a pool without himself being seen, has dropped a frog within six inches of the lurking marauder seen him impudently and lazily nose the ness. He is an aristocrat in that he disdains slow or muddy, lakes and currents and the delicacy of his flavor is increased by the clear cold rushing water which he inhabits. There is no record of any man taking more than a dozen jackfish in a day and the angler does not think his time wasted

if he lands half of that number.

In glass-clear creeks which plunge downward though pine-clad hills the jackfish

There is no doubt that the wisdom of a

and the angler does not think his time wasted if he lands half of that number. In glass-clear creeks which plunge downward though pine-clad hills the jackfish makes his home and only the skilled and careful may hope to capture him. He is of the widely disseminated pike family, with a long nose or bill garnished with rows of teeth and is beautifully scaled and colored in sober fashion, individuals of a certain age showing burnished spots not unlike those found upon the muskallonge when it is in good health he is almost cylindrical of body and very slender, with a tail broad and powerful and is one of the swiftest of all native fishes. In weight he runs from three pounds to a half-pound. A few specimens of greater weight have been taken, but they were exceptions proving the rule.

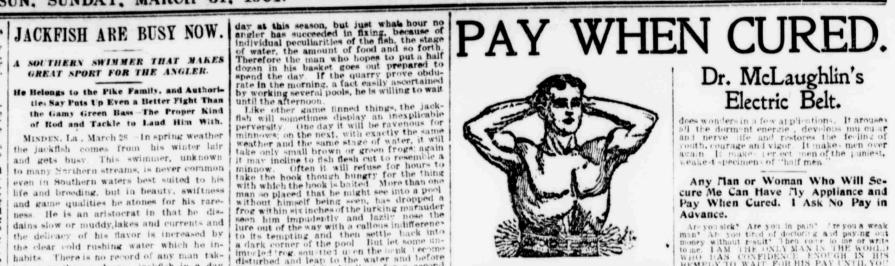

There are no better fish for the table than jackfish and few that, pound for pound, are better fighters. In pugnacity they discount the green bass or white perch of the South, though their small size prevents them preying on these tribes except when they catch the wery young. As the streams which country, are littled worked and offer excellent breeding grounds, this splendid little fighter would increase rapidly, but for the fact that it spawns in exposed places near the headwaters and one of the nost woraclous devourers of the spawn is the male himself indeed, the female when guarding her "nest" attacks her mate with more savagery than she displays toward other species and if she can drive him away permanently has a good chance to see her eggs come to fruition.

Like the female bass, she will dart at any object which seems to her immical and a man to object which seems to her immical and a man to doubt that the more savagery than better fish for the table than jackfish are in thinly settled parts of the country, are littled worked and offer the species and if she country is a sp inck's head and hold it inctionless while the barb is forced out. The teeth, he were are not poisonaus like the side fins of the catalsh, which often make a gash not out intensely painful, but apt to gaugerene. There is no twilight worth mentioning it the south and the shadows fail fast on thickly in the woods, so that the angler wister homeward not later than sundows. The bottom of his basket will be two inches on west green mosses. On these his WASHINGTON'S CENSORED POSTERS. Queer Sights Sometimes Seen on the Billboard of the Capital.

The good folks of Mount Vernon, which

This is Dr. McLaughlin's offer to Weak Men, Rheumatics, Dyspeptics, Men with Lame Backs. Weak Kidneys, Lost Vitality, Varicocele, Wasting of Vital Strength, Sciatica, Constipation, "Come and Go" Pains and to Women with the Weaknesses Feculiar to their sex.

Give me a man broken down from indiscretion, overwork or exposure—one who has lost the very essence of health—and I will make him feel like a youth of 20 within a month. How? you ask. Simply by pumping a vital stream of electricity into his body in the right way while he sleeps.

does wonders in a few applications. It arouses all the dormant energie, develops mu cular and nerve life and restores the feeling of youth, courage and vigor. It makes men over again. It makes teneous men of the puniest, weakest specimens of "half men." Any Man or Woman Who Will Secure Me Can Have My Appliance and Pay When Cured. I Ask No Pay in Are you sick? Are you in pain. Are you a weak man? Are you tired of doctors g and paying out to me. I AM THE ONLY MAN IN THE WORLD WHO HAS CONFIDENCE ENOUGH IN HIS REMEDY TO WAIT FOR HIS PAY UNTIL YOU ARE CURED.

READ WITH CARE.

CONSULTATION FREE. If you are close let me show you the difference between my up-to-dat appliance and ld style, burning Electric Bells. Let me prove to you why my Balt cures when they fail. If you will cull! will give you a free treatment to show the

be how you how it cutes.

SPECIAL NOTICE. If you have a belt that band which has disappointed you bring it in and I will allow you half price of mine for it.

FREE BOOK. If you can't call, write for my ing how my Belt is used, and giving hundreds of letters from grateful people. Address, enclosing this Ad.

DR. M. J. McLAUGHLIN, 831 Broadway, near 13th St., New York.

Office Hours -9 to 9. Sunday, 9 to 1.

INSECT EATING PLANTS. MAN'S MOUSE TRAPS AND LIMED TWIGS

MATCHED BY NATURE. The Venus Flytrap Only One of the Plants That Feed on Insects Curious Contrivances by Which the Prey Is Caught it fails always to attain its development.

The Venus flytrap is only one out of a "Depression is a state in which a man is

Texas, and is now known to use the small value for having himself pulled out bladders, from which it derives its name, for another purpose than that of floating on the picnty of things to worry over, worried himsurface of the water in which it lives. The seif finally into what was virtually a state little bladders, common to the inland common bladders and the purple bladders man is commonly described as played out.

wort—which last is generally found near the wort—which last is generally found near the coast and is recognize ble by its solitary parple flower—are also traps for insects, in principle not unlike the common form of mouse trap. Each bladder has an opening large enough to admit the small insects, often invisible to

NEVER GIVE UP THE SHIP. Mr. Burgaloo's Case Illustrates How a Man May Get Out of the Rut.

"Of course," said Mr. Gratebar, "the distinction between worriment and depression is plain enough. Wormment is due to passing effectimentances that may at any moment The Plants Actually Eat the Insects. sion is a more or less permanent state. I CAMBRIDGE, Mass . March 30 Nearly have known men who were greatly worsted verybody has read or heard of the Venus to burst out over something that amused everybody has read or neard of the venus to built out over something that amused flytrap—the Dionaa muscipula of scienthem in wholesome, hearly laughter Glendy tific betany—and of the extraordinary sensitive was nothing very serious the matter tiveness of its leaves, so delicately con- with such a man, and no doubt, in many structed that if a fly or insect lights upon one the leaf closes upon itself and so in-prisons the unhappy insect, killing and planty of good men that need now and then actually eating it, for that the insect really nourishes the plant has been shown by comparative study; deprived of its insect food cessive doses serves this end, but depression, number of insectivorous plants, a careful not only misecable, but indifferent, he doesn't study of which has been made recently by care; the wery worst state that a man can get Dr. Fowler, professor of botany in Queen's imo Every man ought to keep out of that College, Ontario

The bladderwort, for example, of which a to get out of it at any cost 1 had a friend model is shown in the Ware collection at once, a man named Burgaloo, Philander G. Harvard, is familiar to frequenters of ponds Burgaloo, who, fearing that he might some and slow streams, from Newfoundland to day fall into this condition provided in ad-

The control of the co

THE BIO A GREAT NE Uses of the Bie Life-A G Queer Or the Blogra

The biogram thought look! "It isn't the have miles an every time I

I'm sure to ru his specialities The catalog tographs, eac They ran up in "THE SUN habout the Kais pictures made He'd sit up nig of him. Over picture of a p him up till the out by horse speaking To scheme like a and work like On the other and Kings and and ask you to The movin its infancy eve the stage use show. But the is going to be I ness life. The us in London, of private work done very little "The very fi of the Duke of samples Won to this little c Edward, "if he "Don't you except those f soon, we shall of our work. the Goulds, They wont h on it as is dor to But the r ures as they books which with four or one person ca

"Why, the Here, for in celebrate a new building make ther "This pi thing |